

PolyUnderstanding BIP endorsement statements by Fadma Ait Mous / UH2C

I fully support the PolyUnderstanding BIP, as it aligns with my research and teaching interests, as well as the focus areas of my laboratory, LADSIS. As the head of UH2C for Hub 4 Civis and co-leader of the WP "Research in PolyCIVIS," I am willing to contribute significantly to this initiative.

LADSIS is a leading social science research center in Morocco, focusing on critical issues such as migration, environmental challenges, climate change, health, and disabilities—key areas for understanding and addressing polycrises. My research interests also include migration, youth, gender dynamics, and the intersection of health and disabilities with broader social challenges.

In this BIP, I can contribute by providing insights on pressing social issues, including youth marginalization, gender-based violence, educational disparities, and economic inequality. These challenges are crucial for understanding the dynamics of polycrisis and can inform the development of context-specific solutions.

The impact I foresee from this BIP lies in enhancing our collective understanding of polycrisis dynamics and developing actionable strategies that consider local contexts and amplify the voices of marginalized groups. My goal is to contribute to research that informs effective policies and strengthens community resilience in the face of these complex challenges.
