

STUDENTS LEADING TEACHERS FOR SUSTAINABILITY PRACTICE WORKSHOP

UNIVERSITY:

University of Glasgow

DATE:

1 October 2021, 12:00 – 13:30 BST

LANGUAGE: English

TARGET GROUP:

Teachers, no limit.

REGISTRATION LINK

CONTACT:

Ms Sarah Hubbard

Change and Organisation Design
Lead

Sarah.Hubbard@glasgow.ac.uk

BRIEF DESCRIPTION:

The UofG Sustainability in Learning & Teaching Community of Practice invites teachers across our campuses to this upcoming Practice Workshop, which will be led by a group of brilliant student activists with a passion for sustainability.

This Pecha Kucha style event will showcase and amplify student voices to motivate, inform, and propel our own commitments to sustainability.

This event has emerged from the recognition that many of us are fortunate to have students and graduates that are activists, experts, and practitioners in sustainability – and it has been these people that have compelled and transformed our own perspectives. All of our students are stakeholders, preparing to inherit the world that we are currently leading. Let's listen to them. These students connect us, challenge us, and guide us in our teaching in relation to sustainability.

AVAILABLE RESOURCES:

www.gla.ac.uk/research/az/sustainable-solutions/our-projects/community-of-practice/

FOCUS ON INNOVATIVE PEDAGOGIES:

Pecha Kucha style event