11.00-13.00 CET (Marseille, Bruxelles, Madrid, Roma, Stockholm, Tübingen)

10.00-12.00 WET (Glasgow)

The National and Kapodistrian University of Athens (NKUA) is an active member of CIVIS, an alliance of leading universities across Europe. The Department of Music Studies, which is part of the School of Philosophy of NKUA, offers a multifaceted undergraduate program, based on multi-disciplinary approach to music studies. The Department of Music Studies has a strong research profile in all scientific disciplines pertaining to music and musicology.

The academic community of our department considers CIVIS an important initiative for strengthening European integration in higher research and education and aspire to actively support it. Therefore, we are organizing a Disciplinary Meeting titled ‘Music Studies in CIVIS’ to discuss opportunities for collaboration with colleagues from other departments part of the CIVIS network who share with us the interest in the study of music.

We would like to invite colleagues who work in the following indicative fields to join us, introduce themselves and their institutions, and to register ideas for joint courses and graduate programs, collaborative research and partnership in preparing and submitting research proposals:

Musicology
Music History
Musical Analysis
Philosophy of Music
Sociology of Music
Ethnomusicology
Anthropology of Music
Popular Music
Performance Studies
Musical Technology
Music Education
Music Psychology

Please register for a 3 min presentation by sending an email to Panagiotis Poulos (Academic CIVIS Coordinator) at the Dept. of Music Studies, NKUA: ppoulos@music.uoa.gr by 25 June 2021.
